

LitigationPERSONAL INJURY AND WRONGFUL DEATH

Personal injury law focuses on those who have been physically or psychologically injured as a result of the negligence or wrongdoing of another person, company, government agency, or other entity. Wrongful death laws allow the survivors of a loved one to collect money damages due to negligence or wrongdoing that results in death.

The personal injury lawyers at Critchfield represent clients who have suffered injuries in many types of circumstances, including automobile and motorcycle accidents, defective products, medical malpractice, slip-and-fall, drug and toxic chemical exposure, and injuries incurred on the job. Critchfield's personal injury attorneys are seasoned practitioners that handle personal injury cases day-in and day-out. They are also true trial lawyers, experienced in dealing with insurance companies and defense attorneys, and are ready to assert the rights of our clients all the way through trial if necessary.
