TRADEMARK AND COPYRIGHT LITIGATION

In addition to our work in intellectual property prosecution and licensing, we're prepared to step in when clients are faced with disputes over trademarks and copyrights – both before and after litigation ensues.

We have extensive experience handling a wide range of issues, including conflicts over the fair use doctrine, substantially similar works, and infringement. Our litigators walk clients through the development of an overarching strategy, including possible means of settlement or alternative dispute resolution, all the way through discovery, trial, and even appeal if necessary.

Our representation is multi-faceted, having counseled client in all types of businesses, universities, artists, and authors in the protection of intellectual property.
