

NON-PROFITS

Our attorneys recognize that nonprofit organizations face a number of unique legal challenges, in addition to those typically encountered by for-profit enterprises. The firm has extensive experience in serving the varied needs of our nonprofit clients and in helping them achieve their objectives.

Critchfield attorneys have advised nonprofit and tax-exempt organizations of all types – including churches, religious organizations, universities, educational organizations, service organizations, community foundations, private foundations, social clubs, and trade associations – on all types of matters. These include:

- Entity formation
- Filing for tax exemption
- Charitable solicitation filing requirements
- Corporate governance issues
- Lobbying limitations
- Form 990 compliance
- Unrelated Business Income Tax (UBIT) questions
- Grantmaking
- Foreign operations
- Charitable deduction questions
- Mergers
- Dissolutions

Whatever issue faces a nonprofit, the attorneys at Critchfield take pride in helping our clients find a solution.
